LaRouche Asks Mobiliz CIA International Terrorism

Paris, May 15 (IPS) — U.S. Presidential candidate Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr. today urged honest parliamentarians in every country to join his forces in a concerted campaign "to root out and end the reign of blind terrorism currently being escalated by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and that agency's accomplices among official and semi-official forces associated with Interpol and NATO countries' intelligence services.

"Any effort to deal with this problem which does not go directly against the CIA is a fraud and a preordained failure. The CIA's top general, Lieutenant-General Yarborough, recently admitted publicly that the CIA controls '95 per cent' of the terrorism deployed throughout the world today. Although we are not in a position to verify the figure General Yarborough cited, we know from our own direct investigations of this problem that Yarborough's admission is broadly correct in principle.

"This CIA-linked campaign of 'blind terrorism' can be checked provided that responsible government agencies have the courage to go directly against the source of the problem. Provided that the CIA and allied agencies are made accountable for the crimes of the psychologically-conditioned dupes they deploy, and that certain measures are taken to root out the conduits through which terrorism is channelled by the CIA, British intelligence agencies, and their allies, this problem can be rapidly cleaned up.

Our Investigations

"I shall qualify my own competence on this matter, and then list a few check-points which can be effectively used to clean up at least the bulk of the terrorist problem.

"My organization's investigations into CIA-controlled terrorism began with our investigations of the RAND Corporation's and Ford Foundation's operations in connection with the provoking of the 1968 New York teacher's strike and the CIA's funding of the group around Mark Rudd — later co-leader of the Weatherman terrorist group. For various reasons, a large number of the groups used to conduit terrorist operations were groups either created or otherwise controlled by the CIA and related agencies, which have also been deployed in various attempted containment and destabilization operations against my own organization. As a result of these attacks upon us, we were compelled to develop a counter-intelligence capability as complement to our legal counteroffensives against such harassments. In the course of investigating the groups attacking us — Maoists, anarchists, Trotskyists, and professed right-wingers — we uncovered information exposing the terrorist networks operating through the same groups.

"Our investigations into the so-called 'Black September' operation planned against the U.S., our investigations into the 'Black Liberation Army' of police-killers, and our investigations of the common backgrounds of the Baader-Meinhof gang and West German Maoist KBW countergang are exemplary of our expertise on this question.

"Unfortunately, because this terrorism was being deployed by agencies affiliated directly or indirectly with the U.S. Department of Justice, National Security Council, and Treasury Department, our exposures of the Terrorist networks to responsible U.S. police agencies have been blocked from the top levels in the U.S. government. I would hope that now, when many people throughout the world are concerned to end this terrorism, that our analysis will finally be treated with the seriousness it merits.

"The following observations provide an effective guide to discovering and rooting out terrorist networks and their essential covers.

"First, the development of individual and small-group methods of 'blind terrorist' deployment is principally a product of the followers of Brigadier John Rawlings Rees in and around the London Tavistock Institute and its sister agency, the RAND Corporation. In general, the operation of this network depends upon a symbiotic relationship between large countergangs created and controlled by the NATO intelligence community and the small forces of psychologically-conditioned individuals and small groups which are 'laundered' under the cover directly or indirectly provided by the larger countergangs.

"The countergangs include most of the major Maoist organizations of North America and Western Europe, which are creations of agencies associated with the NATO intelligence community. They also include certain anarchist groupings, certain controlled 'Trotskyist' groupings, and professedly right-wing or outrightly fascist groupings of the same ultimate parentage.

Creating Terrorists

"The terrorist is produced through the use of psychological conditioning methods of the type with which the Tavistock Institute and clinic are most prominently associated. The principal covers for the conditioning and selection of potential terrorists are the varieties of 'community health centers' recommended by Brigadier Rees, and sponsored, in part, through the missionary work of his World Federation of Mental Health. These include certain psychological operations usually conducted under the pretext of rehabilitation
